KILLED IN PISTOL FIGHT.

John Johns, colored, proprietor of a clothes establishment, in Petersburg, was shot and instantly killed by William L. Ellis, a colored liveryman, yesterday. Johns, who rented from Ellis, had a quarrel with Ellis regarding the roof of his store, which had been leaking. The quarrel was followed by a fight, in which Johns was worsted, and Ellis took a pistol away from him.

After the fight Johns went to his store, and procuring another pistol, started in the direction of Ellis's stable. William Armistead, a friend, attempted to remonstrate with him, but he turned and fired on Armistead, the ball striking Armistead in the mouth, tearing a hole in the roof of his mouth and lodging at the base of his skull. Armistead was taken to the hospital.

Ellis was standing in a room in the front of his stable in Bollingbrooke street, when Johns turned the corner of the street and opened fire on him. Ellis picked up the pistol that he had taken from Johns about 15 minutes before and fired at Johns. The two men exchanged several shots, when Johns was seen to stagger and fall. An examination showed that Johns had been struck by one of Ellis's shots in the right breast, the bullet penetrating the lung and causing instant death. Ellis went at once to police headquarters and surrendered. Ellis claims self-defense.

CRABS SWEPT SEAWARD.

Captain Olsen, of the Norwegian steamship Captain Bennett, which arrived at Philadelphia Wednesday from Jamaica, found a big area of oil off the North Carolina coast, evidently the cargo of some petroleum carrier or whaler which may have foundered in the recent storm. He says that when north of Cape Hatteras his vessel passed through oil floating on the surface of the water covering an area of more than 100 miles, extending in all directions.

Within the petroleum area the oil had stilled the sea, and it was as calm as the Delaware river on a summer day. Another unusual thing reported by Captain Olsen was the number of crabs seen in the water south of Cape Henry. Thousands of them were in view—evidently having been carried out to sea from the Chesapeake Bay by the recent storms and were unable to get back to the inland waters again.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills will promptly relieve all Kidney and Bladder disorders. Sold and recommended by W. F. Creighton & Co.

KILLED A THIEF.

It developed yesterday that a series of robberies which have been systematically conducted at the railroad wharves at Port Norfolk and Pinners Point culminated last night in a tragedy. The fact was disclosed when the bullet-riddled body of Daniel Bullock, of Mount Herman, was found floating in the water.

Watchman Ironmonger Wednesday night discovered two men stealing groceries from the wharf of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad at Port Norfolk. The watchman pursued them, and as they were about to jump from the wharf to a small skiff which they had brought along for the purpose of carrying off their booty he fired several shots at them. In their haste to leave they turned the boat over, and it was not known at that time by the watchman that any of his shots had taken effect. He was under the impression that both men had made their way ashore, although neither made a noise after the boat turned turtle.

HEAT CAUSES INSANITY.

His mind unbalanced by work and heat, Norman C. Bassett, aged 50, manager of a department of the Allis-Chalmers' plant, at Milwaukee, Wis., wandered for several hours about town Tuesday night, until a patrolman took him to the police station.

He carried a satchel, which was found to contain $50,000 in money, bonds and other paper.

When taken into custody Bassett talked incoherently, was unable to tell anything about himself, even his name, and imagined he was in a foreign city pursued by thieves. He is being kept at Emergency Hospital until relatives in New England are heard from. Bassett is unmarried, and has no relatives in Milwaukee. He is a man of means.

A Faithful Friend.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since it was first introduced to the public in 1872, and have never found one instance where a cure was not speedily effected by its use. I have been a commercial traveler for eighteen years, and never start out on a trip without this, my faithful friend," says H. S. Nichols of Oakland, Ind. Ter. When a man has used a remedy for thirty-five years he know its value and is competent to speak of it. For sale by W. F. Creighton & Co. and Richard Gibson.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

FRIDAY EVENING, AUG. 7, 1908.

MR. TAFT'S speech at Hot Springs on the law's delay was full of practical suggestions for making the processes of justice quicker and less costly. Simplify the codes of procedure, recommends Mr. Taft, as England has done. Much of the time of courts is wasted in deciding whether the procedure in a case is technically in accord with the State's code and many cases are delayed by the failure of attorneys to master it. Appeals, too, says Mr. Taft, should be restricted. The great body of litigation, he thinks, should be confined to courts of the first instance and to intermediate appellate courts. One appeal should be enough, except in certain typical cases which involve constitutional questions or the construction of a statute; upon these he would have the court of last resort pass. Court fees should be reduced so as to make litigation as cheap as possible, and the judges should be induced to render their opinions promptly on the conclusion of a trial, as the English judges do, instead of incubating the matter for protracted periods, as is the American custom. Arbitration wherever feasible should be employed on account of its greater cheapness. Mr. Taft raises a moral issue, when he points out that the present delays and cost of court procedure operate to produce virtual inequality before the law. The poor litigant cannot afford the expense and he cannot endure the delay attendant on getting justice. If one of the parties to a contest is poor and the other rich, the rich litigant can wear out the other's patience and exhaust his resources. It becomes between them not so much a question of justice as of endurance, and this relative advantage that the rich litigant enjoys over the poor causes dissatisfaction just as surely as if the judges openly discriminated in favor of wealth and power.

MR. W. R. MEREDITH, of Richmond, former president of the State Bar Association, put himself in a position at Hot Springs last night to be hissed and promptly "got what was coming to him." In introducing Mr. Taft who had been invited to respond to a toast Mr. Meredith went out of his way to tell as an anecdote an "old chestnut" about an Irishman who was a democrat but who said he was going to vote for Taft this year because he could vote for Bryan anytime. At once the banquet was in an uproar. Hisses and catcalls greeted Mr. Meredith's remarks. Then many members rose and the cry "Bryan! Bryan! Bryan!" filled the hall. Meredith tried to continue but the banqueters were angry and kept up the cry of Bryan. Finally, they became quiet and Mr. Taft was introduced to respond to the toast of "The President." Mr. Taft was manifestly embarrassed, and prefaced his speech by the hope that none of his remarks would be interrupted politically. It is a great pity that a man of common sense had not been asked to preside at the banquet.

THE enormous exodus of foreign-born residents of the United States on account of the business depression is disclosed by the figures of immigration and emigration for the past fiscal year. The immigrants were 782,870—nearly all in the early part of the year—and the emigrants were 707,841, leaving the net immigration only 75,031. In the fiscal year 1907 the excess of immigrants over emigrants was 940,360. In that year the inward movement exceeded a million and a quarter, and surpassed all records. In the year 1906 the excess of immigrants over emigrants was 820,912. It will surprise a good many persons who observe the immigration figures with a good deal of apprehension or hostility to learn that in such prosperous years as 1907 and 1906 the outgoing steerage passengers numbered 344,989 and 282,068, respectively.

UPON his pleading guilty to selling cocaine, in violation of the new law, which makes such an act a felony, a homeless cripple was sentenced in New York a few days ago to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary. In passing sentence Judge Foster well said:

"The selling of this noxious drug is a great menace to the country at large. The practice seems to have originated in the west and to have spread toward the east. It destroys the usefulness and will power of our youths, and our lawmakers have declared the act of selling it a felony. After this it will go hard with all such men as you who are brought before me. They will be given the limit."

Judge Foster's example should be followed by every magistrate and judge in the country who should do everything in their power to break up the cocaine habit—one of the greatest curses of the times.

THE window glass manufacturers of the north and west have contributed their share to the boom of prosperity by agreeing to raise the prices of single glass 20 and double glass 33 1-3 per cent. before starting up their fires for the fall season. They are looking for a building boom, and it was lately announced that production had been curtailed to such an extent that there were only 700,000 boxes of glass instead of the usual 2,000,000 in stock. The workmen claim that under the sliding scale of wages the increase in prices will entitle them to 40 and 66 2-3 per cent. more wages. The Philadelphia Record says the increase of prices in anticipation of a great increase in building operations appears to be rather premature.

IT IS shown in New York that an unusual number of young lawyers are searching work in vain. This applies to other cities beside New York and to other professions beside the legal. The colleges are incessantly turning out more graduates than there is room for in the professional world.

JUST AS Fredericksburg was declared "wet" yesterday, after a two days total abstinence, 47,500 barrels of whisky were burned in Midway, Kentucky. Now what are the other fellows going to do for their drinks?

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, Aug. 7.

For the purpose of relieving former Secretary of War Taft from criticisms on account of the discharge of the colored battalion of the 25th Infantry, following the Brownsville affray, Lieutenant General Henry C. Corbin, retired, today gave out a hitherto unpublished dispatch from President Roosevelt showing that the order directing the discharge came direct from the president and was peremptory. The original order of discharge was promulgated by Acting Secretary of War Oliver during Secretary Taft's absence on a tour of inspection out west. On his return, Taft suspended the order in order that the president might reconsider the matter, says General Corbin. The president was at that time in Porto Rico. In response to a message from Taft the president cabled as follows, according to General Corbin. "Cablegram received. Discharge is not to be suspended unless there are new facts of such importance as to warrant your cabling me. I care nothing whatever for the yielding either of the politicians or the sentimentalists. The offense was heinous and the punishment I inflicted I imposed after due deliberation. All I shall pay heed to is the presentation of facts showing the official report to be in whole or in part untrue, exculpating some individual man. If any such facts shall later appear, I can act as may be deemed desirable, but nothing has been brought before me to warrant the suspension of the order. I direct that it be executed.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Commenting on the case, General Corbin says: "With these facts known, no man, black or white, in fairness can place any responsibility in the promises on Secretary Taft. As a loyal subordinate of the president, he did his duty as a subordinate, regardless of any views of his own. To have done less would have been disloyal—to have done more, would have been insubordinate, of neither of which is Judge Taft capable."

U. S. Gibson of Los Angeles, California, has been appointed secretary of the United States Legation in Honduras.

The question as to what action the United States should take in view of the refusal of President Davill, of Honduras, to rescind his cancellation of the exequatur of the American consul Drew Linard, and Vice Consul Reynolds, at Ceiba, has been passed up to Secretary of State Root. A complete summary of the whole correspondence in the case has been forwarded to him at his summer home near Clinton, N. Y., and whatever the State Department may do in the matter, will be dictated by him. It is not believed that the United States will, in retaliation, sever diplomatic relations with Honduras, for the incident is not considered of sufficient importance. What Germany and Norway, whose consuls were also deprived of their exequatura at the same time, will do about it, the State Department is not informed. The trouble arose over the fact that, when the revolutionists were besieging the town of Ceiba, the consul forwarded to the commander of the government troops in the town a demand from the revolutionists for its surrender. The government officers took this as a demand formulated by the consuls themselves, whereas the consuls declare that they merely forwarded the document as it came to them.

THE FREDERICKSBURG LIQUOR CASE.

As stated in the Gazette of that day, Judge John T. Goolrick decided yesterday that the local option election held in Fredericksburg on May 5 last was null and void, and the Ward law, authorizing local-option elections, was seriously defective.

As a result of the election on May 5 the "drys" won after a vigorous contest by a majority of 31. The law was to go into effect on August 4 at midnight, since which time the saloons had been closed. In the meantime, however, a contest was instituted on the ground that 80 per cent. of the voters who voted in that election were not qualified because they had not paid their capitation tax six months before that election, as it was claimed by the contestants they were required to do under the constitution. On July 28 last the case was argued before Judge Goolrick, of the Corporation Court. The contest hinged on what is known as the Ward law, passed by the last Legislature, which practically allows a voter who has paid his capitation taxes and is otherwise qualified to vote in the June general election to vote on a special or local-option election called before that day and between February 1 and June 1.

The principal ground on which Judge Goolrick declared the Ward law defective is that it is in plain conflict with Section 18 of the schedule, which reads as follows: "In all elections held after this Constitution goes into effect the qualifications of electors shall be those required by Article 2 of the Constitution. Article 2, referred to in this schedule, is the article of the Constitution dealing with the electoral—the franchise—and declares that capitation taxes must be paid six months in advance of all elections for the members of the General Assembly.

Judge Goolrick referred to numerous decisions of the courts and other authorities to sustain his opinion that Section 18 of the schedule referred to all elections—general, special and local option—and that it required six months prepayment of capitation taxes before that election, and he further decided that under Section 62 of the Constitution, while the General Assembly was given power to enact local-option elections it was given no power to increase, decrease, abridge or alter the qualification of voters at elections and that voters in the local-option elections must have the same qualifications to vote as at general elections.

The judge referred to the cast of Pearson vs. the Board of Supervisors, before the Virginia Court of Appeals, and from many other States, to the effect that the Constitution, and the Constitution alone, must be looked to for the qualification of voters, and that Section 62 of the Virginia Constitution was only intended to give the Legislature the right to pass local-option laws, but not to fix the qualifications of voters at those elections other than those provided for and prescribed in the Constitution.

He also decided that, as 50 per cent. of those voters at the local-option election were disqualified though no fault of theirs, the whole election was void, as the legally qualified voters in order to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, could not be questioned as to how they had voted.

Interest in this case was so great because it involved not only local-option elections, but special elections for bond issues, etc. The opinion is looked upon as a very strong legal document and is being extensively circulated all over Virginia by telegram and otherwise.

Judge Goolrick's vote in the election was not involved, as he is an ex-Confederate soldier, and all soldiers can vote in all elections in this State without paying any capitation tax.

After Judge Goolrick had rendered his decision the attorney for the "drys" moved that the court set aside its judgement. This the court overruled, an appeal has granted and 30 days was given in which to prepare a bill of exceptions for an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

The temperance people started the work of securing names to a petition for another local option election. The necessary signatures were soon secured. The petition will be presented to court and it is expected the election will be ordered for an early date.

Virginia News.

A banquet last night, at Hot Springs, brought to a close the twentieth annual session of the State Bar Association, Mr. Taft responded to the toast "The President."

It has been decided, to remove St. John's Episcopal Church from Langley, Fairfax county, to Ingleside, on the Great Falls R. R. The latter is considered the more accessible point.

Messrs. Davis & Davis, Washington patent attorneys, report the grant, this week, to citizens of this state, of the following patents: J. A. Childress, of Pilot, vegetable and fruit slicer and cutter; A. W. Hanger, of Staunton, acetylene-gas generator; J. F. Lyman, of Montsbrook Farm, snap-hook,

A monument has been placed in Bruton parish churchyard to the memory of Mrs. Letitia Tyler Semple, daughter of the late John Tyler, president of the United States, and mistress of the White House during part of her father's term of office. The monument was selected by Mrs. Semple about eight years before her death.

Cincinnatus W. Tyler, a well-known attorney of Richmond, yesterday instituted proceedings for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Alice C. Grady Tyler, on the ground of excessive cruelty. The Tylers were married in Washington on May 11, 1903. They have two children. The plaintiff, in his allegation, charges that his wife has been so cruel in her treatment of him that he has been compelled to leave home on several occasions.

Fire in Richmond at an early hour this morning totally destroyed the wholesale feed establishment of T. W. Wood & Son, probably the largest business of the kind in the south. Only the most capable and heroic work of the Fire Department prevented the blaze from reaching out and destroying the two buildings which adjoin the warehouse on either side. The fight was long and desperate, but the flames were at last subdued, and what promised at first to be one of the worst fires in the history of the city, was confined to its original source, where the damage will possibly not exceed $50,000.

Jacob L. Hechler, who was shot in his home and in the presence of his wife several days ago, in Richmond, has a fair chance for recovery. Mrs. Ivy Hechler, wife of the injured man, and Royal P. Ellerson, who is charged with the shooting, are both under arrest. Hechler's statement that he discovered his wife in a room with Ellerson at the time of the shooting, and that the woman assisted Ellerson in making the assault, has placed her under suspicion. The revolver with which the shooting was done was found by the police yesterday hidden in a stocking said to belong to her. A pan filled with blood, found in the house, leads to the supposition that Hechler may have been wounded prior to the shooting.

HARD LUCK STORY.

Fourteen-year-old Ernest Miller, of Johnstown, Pa., appeared before Magistrate Steinert in New York yesterday to answer to the charge of attempting suicide. He said he was driven to do it by hard luck.

"I could not get a position in Johnstown," he said, "and came here to look for work to support my mother and myself. But each time I obtained employment I was obliged to give it up on account of a tuberculous arm. If I could be of no use to mother or myself I thought I should die."

The attempt was made on July 31. Miller was saved by his landlady, who found him unconscious in his room with a gas tube in his mouth. Magistrate Steinert spoke encouragingly to the boy and turned him over to a probation officer.

Three cent fare and free transfers will probably be abandoned on Mayor Tom L. Johnson's municipally controlled three-cent line in Cleveland, O., in the near future. Today's Telegraphic News

Mr. Bryan.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug 7.—What purports to be the real reason for the trip of William J. Bryan to Chicago for a series of conferences August 22, 23 and 24, leaked out today. While ostensibly the object is to confer with the several national committeemen and state chairmen from the doubtful states, as to the methods to be pursued, when the campaign really opens, Mr. Bryan will, this report has it, also confer with organized labor leaders. Mr. Bryan expects to secure the labor vote this fall. A conference of all the national and international labor leaders affiliated with the federation has been called to meet within a fortnight. It is proposed that this conference shall be held about the time Mr. Bryan is in Chicago. The purpose of the meeting is to place the leaders on record as to whether or not Gompers actually represented them when he appeared before the democratic committee on resolutions and got his favorite planks in the platform. The meeting is expected here to endorse Gompers' action.

The attack on Bryan personally by President Van Cleave of the Manufacturers' Association is said by the candidate and his friends to insist that the issue between himself and Van Cleave shall be clearly defined to organized labor. They will be asked to act before September 7, when Bryan will deliver his speech on the labor question in Chicago.

Cardinal Gibbons.

Rome, Aug. 7.—After a good night's rest Cardinal Gibbons, who was taken ill with intestinal trouble, at Castle Gandolfo, Wednesday, was almost his normal self today.

The attending physician this morning pronounced him practically well. The fever has abated and unless a relapse occurs, which is considered improbable, the cardinal expects to visit the vatican tomorrow, accompanied by Father A. P. Doyle rector of the Apostolic House at Washington, with whom the pope wishes to speak again regarding the Washington institution.

London, Aug. 7.—The alarm in London over the reports of illness of Cardinal Gibbons in Rome were not allayed until today.

The cardinal will leave for London Aug. 15, according to the original programme, to attend the Eucharistic Congress. In the meantime he expects to take part in the congregation of the Propoganda, which meets in Rome Monday.

Body Identified.

New York, Aug. 7.—Identification of the clothing worn by the woman whose body was burned by fire and acid, on the Greenpoint dump, Kohn Krokowski, of Stapleton, S. I., has been arrested, and today is in collapse in his cell. Despite a rigorous "third degree" examination, he denies killing the woman though letters splotched with blood have been found in his room, and he has admitted taking the victim of the crime to Greenpoint on several occasions.

Frank Fefakovski, a Staten Island gardener, identified the victim of the murderer as his wife. As he fingered the sections of charred clothing preserved in Greenpoint police station he cried: "Yes, I can swear before God that these garments were worn by my dear wife. She left me for another last April but I loved her still."

When arrested Krokowski admitted that he had eloped with Mrs. Fefakovski but declared that she had left him several weeks ago, to go to Perth Amboy.

Child Assaulted.

Pittsburg, Aug. 7.—Little Carrie Penrod, aged 10, is dying and her playmate, Lorrine Longwell, eight, is severely injured, as the result of being dragged into a stable at Swissvale, near here, late yesterday and brutally assaulted by a well-dressed man. The children were out walking when accosted by a man who displayed a knife and threatened to kill them if they did not accompany him. After conducting them to an old stable, he threatened violence if they screamed. According to Dr. Wm. H. Morrow, who attended the children both were mistreated. They were again threatened with death when their assailant left, and in fear remained in the place for more than an hour after he disappeared. The Penrod child is not expected to live. The police say they know the man who committed the assault and expect to arrest him before night.

Leaves a Suicide Note.

Pittsburg, Aug. 7.—Because her mother did not provide her with the fine clothes she thought she should have, 15-year-old Annie Greiser, daughter of a blacksmith, disappeared, after leaving a letter stating she had committed suicide. The girl had received attentions from Robert Sibbet, a teamster, and last night they quarreld. The note to Annie's mother was found this morning. The supposed suicide, however, was found tonight at a friend's house in Homestead.

In the letter the girl said: "Dear Mother: It is with pleasure I drop you a few lines to let you know Robert and I quarreled, and that I have drunk carbolic acid and jumped into the river. Tell sister never do as I have done. I have been a bad woman and now I am sorry."

Hail Storm.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—A violent hail-storm passed over this city about 11 o'clock today causing much damage to property and in several instances endangering lives. While it lasted, the storm was violent; hailstones as big as marbles fell or were blown about by a forty mile an hour wind.

The greatest damage was done to glass windows, both large and small plates being smashed. Many runaway horses endangered pedestrians and in several sections the fuses blowing out on trolley cars, caused panic among the passengers. Several were injured by jumping or flying pieces of glass.

Murdered and Thrown in River.

Boston, Aug. 7.—The banks of "Muddy River" are lined with people watching the police search for the nude body of a woman who they believe was murdered, tied to a weight and thrown into the water. The body was seen by a colored lad who after making a fruitless effort to dragged it ashore notified the authorities. He says the body was badly decomposed and attached to a weight which he, however, said was not heavy enough to keep it down when gases begin to generate.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup is especially recommended for children. It tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

Exiles Returning.

Constantinople Aug. 7.—Swarming from jails, and back from banishment under protection of the amnesty which accompanied the sultan's recent grant of a constitution, thousands of long exiled or imprisoned Turks are today spreading mixed joy and terror throughout the country.

The amnesty was designed to cover political offenses alone. Jailers were disposed to interpret it liberally, however, for the benefit of every one who could pay a pittance for liberty and, all over the land, desperate criminals were turned loose in droves to return to their lawlessness.

The political fugitives and prisoners were for the most part the flower of the country, and their return to liberty promises to benefit Turkey immensely. But the outlaws are already creating a reign of terror and in several districts orders have been given to shoot malefactors on sight.

Trouble is also threatened between the young Turkish party which wants no foreign interference, and representatives of the power in Macedonia. The commander of the Austrian gendarmerie at Uskubi has refused a command to quit the country with his men and a clash is imminent between his force and the young Turks.

Crushed to Death.

New York, Aug. 7.—Three men were killed at the St. Johns Home for boys, Brooklyn, by a cave-in, which carried part of the wall and an immense steam drum encased in a cement structure 13 feet square on top of the unlucky workmen. The men were digging around the steam drum, which was to be lowered from a masonry platfrom to the floor when the whole structure gave way, carrying with it a large section of the wall. Roche and McLaughlin were killed outright, but Charles Timothy another workman was knocked off his feet, and several huge pieces extending from the drum and other debris fell on him covering the entire lower part of his body but leaving his head free. One of the men came to after the first shock and piteously begged his comrades to kill him. Stimulants were administered to him, Firemen who were called to the scene were powerless to help him as they feared any immediate attempt to release him would result in the collapse of the entire wall. After suffering untold agonies he died just as the management of the Home had decided to effect the release at any cost.

Waylaid and Robbed.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—Held up at the points of four revolvers, dragged from his carriage, bound and gagged, robbed, tied to a tree, and whipped and finally left suffering in his inextricable position A. Z. Denahen, of Yardley, Pa., foreman for Daniel J. McNichol & Co., builders of the Boulevard in the northwestern section of this city, is today under the care of a surgeon the victim of the most brutal outrage of its kind perpetrated in this city for many years.

Denahen was returning from Frankford at an early hour coming in over the Nicetown lane, when attacked by four masked highwaymen. After robbing him of $75 and a gold watch, they tied him to a tree and whipped him. He was found by a truck driver four hours later and released.

The Meat Trust.

London, Aug. 7.—Agents of the British Department of Agriculture have unearthed evidence, they declare, today, that convinces them the American meat trust is trying to corner Smithfield market, the largest of its kind in the world, and to smash English competition on its own ground. The trust has succeeded so well, the agent's report, says, that meat is now within one cent of what it cost during the recent famine. It can get no cheaper, it is added, until the government adopts some plan by which the English dealers can compete favorably with the trust.

The report suggests the opening of the market to Canadian and South American cattle as a retaliatory measure and urges, also, that the trust be compelled to kill its bullocks within 48 hours of arrival to increase the supply and make consignments more frequent.

The workers struck for two hours just to illustrate what might be expected in case their demands were not complied with. The summary action of the government is a death blow to the electrical workers' plan for a general strike.

Three hundred of the brown men who have been trained in the shops of the Pacific Coast have already arrived and are being distributed to such points as must be supplied. It is now feared that the strike may extend so as to interfere with the operation of roads in the western states. Anxiety is felt here among grain men lest the strike last long enough to cripple the movement of grain. Fifteen shop foremen have walked out of the shops here, refusing to work with the Japanese and other imported men. New-comers are employed in all departments of the road here and are working shifts night and day.

SCHOOL BOARD.

At the monthly meeting of the City School Board held last night there were present, Messrs. Stabler, Yates, Thomson Bradshaw, Boothe, Carne, Carter, Dr. Smith and the superintendent. Dr. Smith presided in the absence of the chairman.

Mr. Stabler reported that the work of repairs on the school buildings had been delayed on account of the new building, as the committee did not know exactly where they stood financially; the committee had not gotten an estimate for repairs to the furnaces at Washington building as it could not be definitely ascertained what work had to be done; he also reported that the third story of Academy building could not be reoccupied unless some changes were made there and that one contractor had stated that it would cost from $100 to $150 to build a stairway to the third story. He said that Mr. J. F. Rodgers had submitted plans for an addition of two rooms to Academy building which would cost $2,500, but that the work would hardly be done till after the new school building had been completed.

The committee on schoolhouses and furniture were authorized to have the furnaces in Washington building repaired and the stairway erected at Academy building on the best terms they could make.

Mr. Carne here arose and after expressing his thanks for the uniform courtesy which had been shown him while a member of the board, presented his resignation, stating that he was unable longer to perform the duties of a trustee. At the request of the chairman and all the members he, however, consented to remain a member till the election of trustees in the fall.

Several bills for supplies, etc., were ordered to be paid and the clerk was directed to pay Mrs. Ewing $27.50 per month for rent of her building on Prince street during the time it is used for school purposes.

Mr. Thomson, from the finance committee, reported that the city treasurer's account had been examined and found to be correct.

The city treasurer's annual report of the receipts and expenditures of the board accompanied by the proper vouchers was presented by the superintendent who stated that the accounts had been examined by the finance committee and found to be correct. The report was accepted and the clerk was directed to certify to the correctness of the same to the proper authorities in Richmond.

The clerk then submitted his annual report of the receipts and expenses of the board, showing receipt of $23,397.28 and expenses $22,213.30, leaving a balance on hand of $1,183.98, which had been appropriated by Council for repairs of the building. The report was received and accepted.

The Superintendent read a circular from the State Department of Education in reference to the pensioning of teachers and which requires that one per cent. of all teachers' salaries be deducted and applied to the pension fund.

The salaries of the teachers were fixed as at present, with the exception of two who, under the rules, are entitled to an increase of $5 per month. The present teachers were then all re-elected. The salaries of the janitors were all fixed as at present and the present janitors were all re-elected.

A communication from the principal of Lee school asking for an increase of her salary was received and the clerk was directed to reply and express to her the regret of the board that it could not at present comply with her request.

The board then adjourned.

NO ASCENSION YESTERDAY.

No ascension was made by Captain Baldwin in the dirigible balloon which he built for the army and in which he is making flights at Fort Myer preliminary to the official trials before an army board. The new propeller shaft did not arrive yesterday, and Mr. Curtiss, the engineer and aeronaut, did not consider it advisable to make a flight with the temporary shaft, which is twisted at one point.

Four tips were yesterday added to the planes which control the upward and downward movements of the ship, and an extra panel has been added to the rudder, giving it greater resisting surface.

If Mr. Curtiss has his motor tuned up in the morning, Capt. Balwin may attempt a flight with the temporary propellor shaft in order to try out the features added. If the new shaft arrives from Hammondsport, N. Y., today it will be immediately substituted for the present one.

DARING RESCUE.

At Colonial Beach last Sunday while the people were crowding on the wharf to get on the excursion boat an elderly lady residing in Washington was pushed overboard in about 15 feet of water. In the excitement which followed and the boat almost ready to throw off the gang plank and start for this city no one seemed inclined either to miss the boat or get their good clothes wet. As the case seemed to be a desperate one and as the old lady was about to sink for the last time, Mr. Chester Scott, a young barkeeper, formerly of this city, but now of Washington, leaped in the river and saved the woman from what looked to be a watery grave. He was highly complimented by every one and none was more profuse in showering blessings than the old lady herself.

MORE COMPLAINT.

Trouble endureth for a night, but joy cometh in the morning. Such was the case of Annie Atwell, who, it is said, under the influence of the stuff which makes you forget home, lodged a complaint against one of her many admirers. Having rested overnight and with a "bracer" which entirely charged her being, she was just as willing to withdraw the charge this morning as she was to prefer it last night. But it cost her $2.

RACES NEXT TUESDAY.

Arthur J. Smith, one of Cincinnati's great motor boat enthusiasts, and last years winner of the Petus Challenge cup, on the Ohio, with the cruising yacht designed and built for him by Mr. Victor Emerson, has placed a contract with Mr. Emerson to build him a speed boat to compete in the international events to take place this fall at Palm Beach, Florida. The racer is to be built of a substance resembling rawhide and the frame which will be of steel will be stayed with piano wire and bicycle tubing. Everything will be sacrificed to speed and it is expected that she will be able to duplicate the performance of the former boat and bring home the cup. A number of boats are being built in this and foreign countries to compete in these classic events so that the limit of power and speed may be looked for. The new speed craft will be tried out in September on the Potomac and then shipped south.

Admiral Calmes, Will Moore, R. B. Emerson and Victor L. Emerson have forwarded their entries to the secretary of the Corinthian Yacht Club, of Washington, asking permission to compete in the power-boat races to be run from Washington to Marshall Hall and return August 11. It is candidly hoped that the entries will be accepted and that the Alexandrians will be given a chance to again establish their supremacy in boat building which was enjoyed years ago. They all feel assured that, in each of their respective classes, they will bring home the laurel wreath. In the cruiser class the undefeated Augusta owned by Admiral Calmes, will have a strong supporter in the little 30 foot cruiser Victor II, built by Mr. Victor Emerson, at his Cincinnati works together with her engines which represent the highest type of motor construction and are a work of mechanical art.

Last season this little boat competed on the Ohio river in the great middle western classic—the Petus challenge cup, which she won in competition with twenty-nine entries with a minute to spare. It is expected that there will not be less than thirty entries in the coming event. Great enthusiasm has been worked up among the yachtmen and the preparations on the Strand indicate that the sport is much alive in Alexandria.

DEATH OF C. W. RIDLEY.

The death of Mr. C. W. Ridley, which occurred in Washingon last night, removes from the scene of activity one of the best known steamboat men of this section of the country. Connected with everything which pertained to this business in this vicinity, and always alert to the interest of the companies he represented, he gained a reputation which will keep him in memory along the Potomac river for many years to come. Mr. Ridley came to this section of the country from New York many years ago and immediately took charge of the Washington Steamboat Company, which included the Alexandria Ferry Company. During his administration of the affairs of this company the steamer Wakefield was built for the lower river route and the steamer Columbia for the Alexandria ferry. The Columbia was destroyed by fire later, but the Wakefield is still a part of the Potomac's fleet. After the disposal of the Wakefield and Arrowsmith to the E. S. Randall Steamboat Company, Mr. Ridley was made general superintendent of the Marshall Hall Steamboat Company and devoted his entire attention to it. He was a successful business man and at the time of his death owned considerable property in Washington and this city. He was closely identified with many interests affecting this city, and his death will be seriously felt among the enterprises with which he was connected. The flags of the river steamers are at half mast out of respect to his memory. He is survived by his wife and daughter, Mrs. J. S. Loose. Mr. Ridley was 75 years old. His funeral will take place in Washington tomorrow afternoon.

POLICE COURT.

[Justice Julius Pelton presiding.]

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Dennis Jackson, colored, arrested by Officer Henderson charged with disorderly conduct and fighting, was dismissed.

John Bryant, colored, arrested by Officer Sampson charged with disorderly conduct and fighting, was fined $5.

Annie Freeman, colored, arrested by Officer Henderson charged with being drunk and disorderly, was fined $10.

A young man, charged with assaulting and threatening another man, had his case continued till Saturday.

TO CONSTRUCT MOTOR CARS.

Mr. Victor L. Emerson, of this city, has become associated with some prominent capitalists, of Washington, D. C., in the manufacture of motor cars. The cars are to be built under the inventions and patents owned by Mr. Emerson. The company will have $100,000 paid in capital and a plant will be built for the manufacture of engines and parts. It has not been decided as yet whether the plant will be located in Washington or Alexandria. Mr. Emerson is now engaged in preparing the plans for the work.

ARK ROBBED.

The ark lying on the shores of Hunting creek which adjoins this city on the south was robbed a day or two ago of a suit of clothes, money and other articles. The ark belongs to Mr. Joseph Higgins, but the articles stolen are the property of others. It is understood that efforts are being made to apprehend the culprit.

FAILED TO PAY BOARD.

As was advertised in yesterday's Gazette it appears that a young man had been in the city soliciting advertisements for a paper in the interests of the Trades Council of this city, without authority from said body. It appears that a young man by the name of R. E. Robertson and his wife had engaged board at a residence on Prince street, the man representing to the family that he was working as solicitor of a paper to be published in the interest of trades organizations and promised to pay his board on Wednesday. Failing to do this and not being able to pay it on Thursday or Friday, the householder reported the case to Officers Beach and Garvey, who arrested the young man. He denied having used the name of the Trades Council of this city and Justice Pelton decide that he be held till the amount of the board bill is paid.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.

Last night the side gate in an alley abutting Chas. King & Son Co.'s property was left open until 10 o'clock so that one of his team could enter. While it was open it is presumed a thief secreted himself in the yard for the purpose of robbery. After the team had been stabled and the driver departed, the thief commenced operations back of the vault. He cut the plastering and tried to get out some bricks for the purpose of entering the money vault. This was noticed this morning, and it is not known what is missing in the other part of the building. It is supposed the thief made good his escape. Judging from the knowledge of the surroundings it is generally believed that some one acquainted with conditions at this place attempted the robbery. The case is being handled by Officer Sampson.

THE MILITARY EXERCISES.

Three battleships and a large number of small boats were theoretically blown to splinters last night by the guns and mortars at Fort Hunt and Fort Washington. The work of destruction was accomplished by the reserve militiamen, at the guns, and by the supports, stationed along the river front, the latter being under the control of instructors from the United States army. Washington was saved from capture, as the battleships and the infantrymen were moving on the city, determined to take possession of it. The exercises of last night were the most realistic so far, although the attacking forces entirely were theoretical.

FIGHT IN A SALOON.

The police court has many different kinds of troubles, some of which are very amusing. This morning there was a case before Justice Pelton of a fight between two negroes, in which one used a scythe and the other a beer bottle. The beer bottle came out victorious and the man with the scythe in addition to a bruised cocoanut will have a chance to use his weapon of defense in an additional attack on the streets and alleys in this city. He received 15 days on the chain gang.

MUCH NEEDED VACATION.

As is his wont the popular and efficient driver of the Columbia fire engine wagon —Mr. Stephen Taylor—will again leave these hot streets and bask in the sand and sunshine of the Atlantic City of this section—Colonial Beach. He will this year take his family with him and let them enjoy the fruit of his year's labor. He is a jovial, good natured fellow and when he arrives at the beach on Tuesday everything will take on new life.

Why We Are All Mimics.

"If we did not cough in church, the human race would not exist." And the professor, twiddling a piece of chalk in his hand, regarded the sophomores with a quizzical smile.

"What I mean," he continued, "is that the cause of coughing is the cause of our survival. That cause is mimicry. Mimicry is a better life preserver than fleetness or strength. For by mimicry we manage not to attract attention, and in prehistoric times they who attracted attention were hunted down by the tribe and roasted for dinner or hunted down by the saber tooth tiger and taken raw.

"Since those dark days mimicry has been instinctive with us. Mimicry is what causes us to follow the fashions. It causes us, when in England, to say 'cawn't' and 'lawf.' If your friend yawns, you yawn—that's mimicry. If he laughs, you laugh—mimicry again. If he snuffles, you snuffle—mimicry. And if he coughs in church, straightway you and all the rest of the congregation cough, the reason being the same one which saved our forefathers from extermination."—New York Press.

Famous Floggers.

Among English schoolmasters whose names have come down to posterity with the dubious reputation of great floggers Dr. Busby of Westminster school is the generally acknowledged chief.

Of him it is recorded that, one of his head boys having insulted a young French viscount who came to the school to demand satisfaction, he flogged the viscount first for the bloodthirsty intentions and next his friend who was the bearer of his challenge.

Dr. Valpy, too, who edited an edition of the classics, was a potent wielder of the rod. Archdeacon Groom, who was a pupil of his, tells a story in illustration of his prowess. One of the boys had been flogged by the redoubtable dominie, and the lad's father came to complain.

"Sir," said Valpy to him, "I flogged your son because he richly deserved it. If he again deserves it, I shall flog him again, and," rising, "if you come here, sir, interfering with my duty I shall flog you."

The parent fled.

A Famous Architect's Trick.

When Sir Christopher Wren was building the town hall of Windsor, a fidgety member of the corporation, so the story goes, insisted that the roof required further support and desired the architect to add more pillars. In vain did Sir Christopher assure him that the danger was imaginary. He knew better. The alarm spread, and the great architect was worried into adding the desired columns.

Years passed, and in later times, when architect and patrons were dead, cleaning operations in the roof revealed the fact that the supposed additional supports did not touch the roof by two inches, though this was not perceptible to the gazers below.

By this ingenious expedient did Wren pacify his critics, while vindicating his own architectural skill to future generations.

I'm Telling You.

Pat Murphy, who was in lodgings, was greatly annoyed by the landlady helping herself to his provisions. She began by taking a piece of his butter, and when Pat came home she said:

"Pat, I'm taking a little of your butter, but I'm not like other landladies—I'm telling you."

Next day it was an egg, and so on. Every day there was something taken and put off with the remark, "I'm not like other landladies—I'm telling you."

Of course there was never any reduction in Pat's bill. One Saturday his bill came to a larger amount than usual. Pat looked at it, bundled up a few things in his handkerchief, walked to the door and said:

"Landlady, I'm sloping. I'm not like other lodgers—I'm telling you."—London Answers.

Beautifully Arranged.

Brown—Well, you've got the quarter. Is your sister coming down?

"I've arranged it beautifully, old chap. I told her it was you first, and she said to tell you she was out, and then I said I was fooling and that it was Charley Jones, and you ought to have seen her hustle to get into a clean shirt waist! She'll be right down!"

Not Surprised.

Skipper—I am inordinately sensitive to uncongenial surroundings, so much so that the very sight of some people will give me a nervous shudder. Chipper—Oh, well, there are very few of us that do not shrink from meeting our creditors.

No Hitch.

"How did the wedding come off today?"

"Without a hitch."

"Glad to hear it."

"I said without a hitch. The bride backed out at the last minute."

Not Written.

"How do you write 'horn?'" asked the teacher of a small boy at the blackboard.

"A horn isn't written at all," answered the little fellow. "It's blowed."—Exchange.

Like a Bicycle.

"What does the doctor say is the matter with Mirandy?"

"He says she has pneumatic tendencies and that she is threatened with spiral trouble."—Baltimore American.

An Unsought Pardon.

Among the stories of that former governor of Texas familiarly known as Sam Houston is more than one amusing tale.

There was a financial agent of the penitentiary who had warmly opposed the election of Governor Houston, but was particularly anxious to retain his own pleasantly lucrative position. Consequently the new governor was soon in receipt of a petition in which the man's years of faithful service and special qualifications for the place were set forth in glowing terms by himself.

The governor sent for him and said gravely, "It appears from this petition that you have been in the penitentiary eight years."

"I have," was the reply.

"And during that time you have performed faithfully every duty that has come in your way to the best of your ability?"

"I have," answered the agent, his courage swiftly rising.

"Then, sir," said the governor, with the air of one conferring a priceless favor, "I pardon you out."

Put Out of Commission.

Abernethy was supposed to influence people by a brusqueness amounting to absolute rudeness. It is related that one day a very voluble lady took her daughter, who was ill, to see him.

"Which of you two wants to consult me?" said Abernethy.

"My daughter," replied the elder woman.

Abernethy then put a question to the girl. Before she had a chance to reply her mother began a long story. Abernethy told her to be quiet and repeated his question to the girl. A second time the woman began a story, and a second time he told her to be quiet. Then she interrupted him a third time.

"Put your tongue out," he said to the mother.

"But there's nothing the matter with me," she exclaimed.

"Never mind, put your tongue out," he commanded.

Thoroughly overawed, the woman obeyed.

"Now, keep it out," said Abernethy, and he proceeded to examine the girl.—Grand Magazine.

A Queer Complication.

In Sydney, a town of 500,000 inhabitants, one can get nothing to eat on a Sunday. Certain restaurants supply food surreptitiously, but the whole time the guests are in danger of being arrested. Once an Italian was in such a restaurant on Sunday when suddenly the police entered. The Italian was promptly pushed by the proprietor into a room where a waitress happened to be standing in negligee. Even this room the police invaded, but the waitress saved the situation by declaring that the young man was her fiance. The young man, by the way, had been married some time. He thought that he had deceived the policeman; but, as a matter of fact, he had got out of the frying pan into the fire. One fine day the waitress called him before the courts and claimed $2,500 for breach of promise. The Italian had to pay. And then came the worst of all. His wife sued for a divorce and shortly after married another man.
